

Dear Friends,

As autumn approaches, I always feel a bit of a thrill. It is my favorite season, but this sense of thrill isn't just about changing colors and cooler weather. My autumn anticipation is a remnant from school days: I loved picking out new notebooks and fresh pens, anticipating what new things I might learn in the upcoming classes. Although I am no longer part of the academy, I cannot shake the sense of excitement that seems to come with autumn.

Fall is a good time to begin new things. The summer vacations are over and folks begin to return to routines as colder weather begins to whisper. It leads me to wonder what new things autumn holds for our parish. What will be different about this autumn? Is there anything thrilling through our parish, calling us to new works for God? I hope we will explore those questions together, seeking more this autumn than simply the change of seasons.

In Christ,
Melinda
